Citizen participation

XI

Sustainability cannot be achieved without the participation of each individual through these daily actions, the adoption of decentralized technologies, political participation, etc.