

The question which human needs compatible with a Sustainable development (SD) ?

As we have seen, most definitions of SD speak of human needs.

Sustainability is our ability to meet our needs while staying within ecological limits. Also, in one of the four principles of sustainability it is said that " in a sustainable society, people are not subject to conditions that systematically undermine their capacity to meet their needs)